Anti-Corruption Policy

Scope

Cognizant Foundation (CF) is subject to the anti-corruption laws that apply in the various jurisdictions where it operates. “Anti-Corruption Laws” means all applicable laws and regulations prohibiting bribery, corruption, kickbacks, or similar unlawful or unethical conduct, including, without limitation, the India Prevention of Corruption Act of 1988 and the anti-corruption laws of India.

All CF Associates are expected to comply with this Policy and its implementing procedures, which are designed to promote compliance with these laws throughout its operations. This includes all employees of CF, core committee members, Cognizant volunteers, CF vendors and partners (collectively “Associates”) and CF Directors. This policy is applicable to CF related activities over which CF has operational control. This policy will be shared with the relevant stakeholders prior to they start their work with CF and acknowledgement sought as detailed in Annexure G.

Guiding Principles

CF is committed to conducting all activities ethically. In support of this commitment, every Associate must understand and comply with the following guiding principles:

- No Bribes: CF Directors and CF Associates should not authorise, offer, promise, or provide anything of value – including a bribe – to get any work completed in favour of CF or secure any advantage in connection with CF’s operations. CF Associates should not request or accept any bribes, kickbacks or other improper benefits.
- Provide Gifts and Entertainment with Caution. CF Directors and Associates should be mindful of unique risks and restrictions that apply to give gifts or entertaining, particularly where a Government Official is involved. Associates should follow the CF “Procedure for Gifts & Entertainment” for pre-approval requirements and restrictions when providing anything of value to anyone outside the Company – both recipients at Government entities and the private sector.
- No Preferential Hiring: CF Directors and Associates should not offer or promise employment to, or hire, relatives of an NGO partner or Government Official for improperly influencing their decision-making. Associates should follow the processes established by CF and ensure only qualified candidates are hired and any Conflicts of Interest are addressed.
- Maintain Accurate Books & Records. CF Directors and Associates should submit accurate and complete travel and expense reports, financial statements, project grants and other records. The Company’s books and records must correctly reflect the true nature of all transactions, no matter how small.
- No Facilitation Payments: CF prohibits facilitation payments – or small, unofficial cash payments to a low-level Government Official – to expedite routine administrative actions.
- No Improper Conduct by Third Parties: CF does not allow any third-party to act on its behalf in a way that violates applicable laws or policies. Follow CF's third-party due diligence before engaging a third-party to act on CF's behalf in any dealings with Government Officials; Associates should be mindful in managing relationships with third-parties – including reviewing and approving invoices – of facts or circumstances that suggest the third-party may act improperly.

- A facilitation payment is generally a small payment made to a low-level Government Official to secure or expedite the performance of routine, nondiscretionary government action.
- A Government Entity refers to any:
 - Government or government division;
 - Department, agency, or instrumentality of such a government or organisation;

Conflict Of Interest Policy

Scope

This Policy outlines the principles regarding conflicts of interest and the responsibilities of Associates in managing such situations. This includes all employees of CF, core committee members and Cognizant volunteers, CF vendors and partners (collectively “Associates”) and CF Directors. This policy is applicable to CF related activities over which CF has operational control. This policy will be shared with the relevant stakeholders prior to they start their work with CF and acknowledgement sought as detailed in Annexure G.

Guiding Principles

As CF Directors and CF Associates, certain outside activities, familial and other close personal relationships, and financial interests may create or appear to create a conflict of interest between personal interests and the interests of CF. Such activities, relationships and investments may give an Associate a motive to make a decision for personal reasons instead of in the best interests of CF, or cause others to believe that the Associate’s judgment is compromised.

To manage the risk that conflicts of interest pose to the organisation, CF Directors and Associates must:

- Never use or appear to use their positions, contacts or knowledge about CF for personal gain or benefit
- Recognise situations in which potential conflicts of interest may occur – by asking themselves whether someone might reasonably think that they are acting in their interests instead of the interests of CF
- Disclose conflicts of interest and potential conflicts of interest to the CEO / CF Board of Directors, depending on the nature of the activity, and discuss as appropriate

While it is not possible to list every situation that could pose a potential conflict of interest, there are certain contexts in which conflicts often can arise.

Outside Employment and Board Memberships: Employees shall not, without the Foundation’s prior written consent, be in any way, directly or indirectly, engaged or concerned with any other business or employment, during or outside their hours of work in the Foundation. Any other outside employment can also present conflict by making demands on time that interfere with the work of the CF.

Before accepting outside employment or any membership of any kind, employees must disclose such opportunities to their reporting managers and receive approval from the CEO / Board of Directors. Before seeking or taking a government or political role of any kind, CF employees must disclose such opportunities to their reporting managers and receive approval from the CEO / Board of Directors. They may, however, undertake honorary work of social or charitable or artistic or literary or scientific nature.

Vendors and Partners: Employees are prohibited from working for a vendor or partner of CF unless it meets a legitimate CF purpose

Government Roles: Employees’ service in government or political office may present a potential conflict of interest, particularly if CF could be impacted by decisions taken by any government agency, department, or office with which an Associate is affiliated.

Financial Interests: Having a substantial financial interest in an organisation can present a serious conflict of interest, particularly if the organisation competes or seeks to collaborate and work with CF. Such interests can include companies in which CF Directors or Associates invest, as well as CF Directors' or Associates' own outside business endeavours and companies. Accordingly:

- CF Directors' and Associates are prohibited from holding a substantial financial interest in a CF vendor or partner
- CF Directors' and Associates' should inform the CEO/ CF Board of Directors about their close personal relationship with anyone who holds a substantial financial interest in any CF vendor or partner
- Any other financial interests that could reasonably be seen as providing an incentive to make decisions, not in the best interest of CF must also be disclosed to the reporting manager or the Chief Executive Officer or the CF Board of Directors as appropriate.

Personal Relationships. Close personal relationships can cause real or perceived conflicts of interest through favouritism or the appearance of favoritism. To avoid this situation, CF Directors or Associates must not:

- Be in a supervisory or control relationship (e.g., having influence over conditions of employment) with another Associate with whom they are in a close personal relationship.
- Be involved in any hiring decision (including internal/external hiring and internal transfers) regarding individuals with whom they have a close personal relationship.
- Be involved in procurement or other CF decisions that could benefit individuals with whom they have a close personal relationship.

Gifts and Entertainment. Giving or receiving gifts, entertainment can present a potential conflict of interest because gifts and entertainment may influence or appear to influence decision- making. Please refer "Procedure for Gifts and Entertainment", which outlines approval requirements for gifts, entertainment and travel.

Most conflict of interest situations can be addressed in a mutually acceptable way. The best way to avoid and handle a perceived or actual conflict of interest is to disclose it to their reporting manager or the CEO or the CF Board of Directors as appropriate. It is the responsibility of CF Directors and Associates to understand when a conflict of interest may arise and disclose possible conflicts to their reporting managers or the CEO or the CF Board of Directors as appropriate. It is the responsibility of the reporting managers or the CEO or the CF Board of Directors to ensure that conflicts of interest are appropriately addressed.

Key Definitions - Conflict of Interest

- Substantial financial interest is a holding of more than 1% of the outstanding shares of a publicly held company or 5% of those of a privately held one.
- Close personal relationships are those between CF Directors or Associates and their family members, and friends.
